1. The Preliminary amendment filed by Applicants on July 7, 2003 has been received and entered.
2. The Information Disclosure Statement submitted by Applicants on July 7, 2003 has been received.
3. The Formal Drawings Submitted by Applicants on November 17, 2003 have been received.
4. Claims 1-57 have been canceled.
New claims 62-68 have been added.
5. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:
  - I. Claims 58, 62-68, drawn to a latching circuit and a logic data storage device having latching circuit, classified in class 365, subclass 189.05.
  - II. Claim 59, drawn to a method of recording an identity of a memory device, classified in class 365, subclass 185.28.
  - III. Claim 60, drawn to a method of reading an identity of a memory device, classified in class 365, subclass 189.01.
  - IV. Claim 61, drawn to a method of remapping a defective memory address, classified in class 365, subclass 200.
6. The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:
Inventions I and IV are related as product and process of use. The inventions can be shown to be distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product or (2) the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product (MPEP § 806.05(h)). In the instant case the method of remapping a defective memory cell address would have used fuse or antifuse to store the address of the defective cell, while the latching circuit and bi-stable logic device in Group I could be used for storing data.

Inventions I, II, and III are related as product and process of use. The inventions can be shown to be distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product or (2) the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product (MPEP § 806.05(h)). In the instant case the method of recording and reading an identity of a memory device in Group II and III would have used a floating gate transistor which has its threshold voltage would change from one level to a different level, while the latching circuit in Group I would be used in an input/output circuit.

7. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

8. A telephone call was made to Ms. Megan Sunkel on March 5, 2004 to request an oral election to the above restriction requirement, but did not result in an election being made.

9. Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).

10. Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).

11. Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Tan T. Nguyen whose telephone number is (571) 272-1789. The examiner can normally be reached on Monday to Friday from 07:00 AM to 03:00 PM.
